What is Bid Design?

Your bid deserves to stand out from the crowd, right? So, why not use our Bid Design service to give it a complete makeover?

With this service, we'll take your proposal and turn it into something worth shouting about!

Why is the design of a bid proposal so important?

Businesses always ask us this question. Once the written content is complete, does the design really matter?

Our answer? Absolutely!

The buyer is likely to review countless bids in their search for the right supplier. If you want your bid to make an impression, it's super important that you grab their attention from the very first glance.

Not to mention, your competitors will almost certainly submit a designed proposal.

The design of your bid should match the compelling content inside... and that's where we come in!

What's included in the service?

Brand investigation

We'll research your brand to make sure we understand your style. To help us do this, our Designers will ask for any files that will give us a feel for your business. This could include logos, brand guidelines, fonts, or any promotional materials.

Professional design

Once we know your brand inside and out, we'll get to work on your bid! Our Designers will create a clean, professional layout that reflects your brand in the best possible way. The buyer is sure to notice you after your bid has been refined by our Designers.

What's included in the service?

Front & back covers

It's not just what's on the inside that counts! As part of this service, our Designers will produce striking front and back covers for your bid. So, you can grab the buyer's attention from the very first page and engage them from start to finish.

Tables

We'll turn your tables into eye-catching designs, making sure they highlight your strengths to the buyer. Or if you'd prefer, our Designers can also work any tables you have already created into the design. The choice is yours!

Imagery

If you'd like to provide imagery to include in your bid, our Designers will incorporate them into the design. For an additional cost, we'll source images for your bid that match your brand.

A message from our Project Director

Bid design can play a huge part in ensuring your proposal stands out. Not all RFPs allow for creativity, but the ones that do should be used to every advantage.

Excellent bid design can be that extra touch that secures your business a contract.
